The Charter of this Company oners more ravious ble advantages to the farmer and others, than any other Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in-sured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL

PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th of March, 1854, since which time over five thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over thirty thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having trebled our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospeets of future usefulness. The Directors and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this ompany a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States.

All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. THE DISTANCE TO WHICH SOUND MAY BE PROPAGATED,-The distance at which sounds are audible does not admit of precise measurement. In general, it may be stated, a sound will be heard farther, the greater its original intensity and the denser the me dium in which it is propagated. It also depends greatly upon the delicacy of hearing of different individuals. The intensity of sound, like that of all forces acting in lines, diminishes in the inverse ratio of the squares of distance of the sounding body. Thus, if the linear dimensions of a theatre be don bled, the volume of the performers' voices at any part of the circumference will be dimin-ished in a fourfold proportion.

A powerful human voice in the open air, at the ordinary temperature, is audible at the distance of seven hundred feet. In a frosty air, undisturbed by winds or currents, sound is heard at a much greater distance with surprising distinctness. Lieutenant Foster, in the third Polar expedition of Captain Parry, held a conversation with a man across the harbor of Port Bowen, a distance of one mile and a quarter. Dr. Young states, on the authority of Der ham, that the watchword "all's well" had been distinctly heard from old to new Gibraltar, a distance of ten miles. The march ing of a company of soldiers may be heard on a still night at from five hundred and eighty to eight hundred and thirty paces; a squadron of cavalry at foot pace, at seven hundred and fifty paces; trotting or gallop ing, one thousand and eighty paces distant. When the air is calm and dry, the report of a musket is audible at one thousand paces. The sound of the cannonading at Waterloo was heard at Dover. Sounds travel further and more loudly on the earth's surface than through the atmosphere. Thus it is said that at the siege of Antwerp in 1832, the cannonading was heard in the mines of Saxony, which are about three hundred and twenty miles distant; the cannonading at the battle of Jena was heard feebly in the open fields of Jena, but in the casemates of the fortifications it was heard with great distinctness. The noise of the sea fight between the English and Dutch in 1672 was heard a Shrewsbury, a distance of two hundred miles. The greatest known distance to which sound has been carried by the atmosphere is three hundred and forty-five miles, as it is asserted, that the very violent explosions of the volcano at St. Vincent's had been heard at Demarara. -Physics and Natural Philosophy, by Professor Silliman, Jr.

IN A TIGHT PLACE.—At N---, one Saturday evening, fatigued by his long journey, a wagoner, with his son John, drove his team into good range, and determined to pass the Sabbath, enjoying a season of worship with the good folks of the village. When the time for worship arrived, John was set to watch the team, while the wagoner went in with the crowd. The preacher had hardly announced his subject before the old man fell sound asleep. He sat against the partition in the centre of the body slip; just over against him, separated only by the very low partition, sat a fleshy lady who seemed all absorbed in the sermon. She struggled hard with her feelings, until unable to control them any longer, she burst out with a loud scream, and shouted at the

"We, Nance! Wo, Nance! Wo! here, John, -calling his son-"cut the belly-band, and loose the breeching, quick, or she'l! tear everything all to pieces!"
